

COMP MONSTER™

Aerocomp, Inc. supplies easy-to-assemble aircraft kits that use space-age composite materials to achieve a strong, light-weight structure. These airplanes will literally last for a lifetime. Once bonded together, the fuselage becomes a single composite structure, much stronger and more durable than metals, tube and fabric, or wooden structures.

Aerocomp airframes are built using only highest quality materials. They set new standards for quality and workmanship. Exterior parts are delivered from the factory with a smooth shiny white Gelcoat finish, eliminating hundreds of hours that would otherwise be needed for sanding, priming, and painting.

The standard Comp Monster kit is designed to accept an engine from 150 to 180 hp. Higher power versions are also available.

Durable, Strong, Long-Lasting

The all-composite construction of the Comp Monster is virtually corrosion-free. This is an airplane that is ideally suited to the harshest environments. Whether you are flying in the scorching sun of southern Africa, or operating on floats from salt water, you will enjoy the benefits of a low maintenance, corrosion-free airframe for as long as you own your airplane.

Customize - Personalize

One of the greatest benefits of building your own airplane is the opportunity to customize the smallest details, building an airplane that is perfectly suited to your own preferences. As you assemble your Comp Monster, you will be able to personalize it so that every detail matches your own needs perfectly.

Pride of Ownership

Comp Monster pilots enjoy showing off their brand new airplanes. The Comp Monster's sleek, smooth, clean lines stand out from the crowd on any flight line. Be prepared to answer questions from bystanders at every airport you visit — the Comp Monster turns heads and draws attention everywhere it goes.
